

Hey, does it really make any sense for someone in your position to be worrying about a bunch of little holes?

We don't think so. Because we pioneered automated mechanical drills for the printed circuit board industry almost 40 years ago, our experience, products and support can probably make your life a little easier. And today we offer a full line of mechanical drills and routers, as well as laser drills. In fact, that's all we make –no stereos, no microwaves. Just big machines that can make itsy-bitsy holes.

After all, your job's challenging enough without worrying about something as small as a human hair. To learn more about Excellon, just give us a call at 1-800-EXCELLON.
